MESSRS. C. MARCKS & CO.,
OPTICIANS AND JEWELLERS,
2, RAMPART ROW, BOMBAY.

RESPECTFULLY announce to the public that they have TAKEN OVER the entire STOCK of OPTICAL GOODS of Dr. A. MENIST, the well-known Oculist Optician, as well as his valuable instruments for suiting the sight.

The superiority of Dr. Menist's Pebbles is well known throughout India, and in order to place them within the reach of every one, he has now fitted them in steel frames, which they are authorised to sell for the price of the Pebbles only.

Dr. Menist's pamphlet may be had free on application ; it contains numerous testimonials to his successful treatment, many of the cases having been previously in the hands of other Oculists, who had failed to find a remedy, and it also contains, for the benefit of persons who cannot pay us a visit, a sheet of questions, the answers to which, when carefully given, will enable us to select suitable glasses.

Up-country orders attended to promptly.
Testing Glasses sent on application.

The Bombay Gazette

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1882.

THE war in Egypt is over. The twenty minutes' work at daybreak on Wednesday morning ended the fighting and the campaign. It is to be doubted whether any war was ever brought to a conclusion in fewer minutes since Cæsar came, and saw, and conquered the son of Mithridates. The overwhelming nature of the catastrophe appears to have appalled and stunned the Egyptians. The resistance so extensively organised everywhere collapsed like a rent balloon. Sir Garnet Wolseley having struck his blow, did not give the enemy an instant to recover or to plan. The same afternoon Zagazig was seized by a forced march of the Indian troops. The British cavalry were sent forward to Belbeis, and the next day the same body went by rail, according to one account, or according to another, made a forced march, and occupied Cairo. No resistance was offered, the troops in garrison, numbering 10,000, laying down their arms. Arabi and Toulba, who was governor of Alexandria during the bombardment, surrendered unconditionally to a body of Bengal Cavalry. On Friday the British Commander-in-Chief arrived and was cordially received by the natives, "who everywhere were most abject." On the other hand, the same discriminating populace gave a very bad reception to Arabi, and pelted him as he went through the streets. The story that Arabi and Toulba were arrested whilst inciting the Cairenes to incendiarism and plunder is inconsistent with the statement in Sir Garnet Wolseley's despatch that they "surrendered unconditionally," and is altogether improbable. If the downrush of their fortunes had left them the hope of protracting the resistance they would have directed their attention not to the burning of Cairo, but to the destruction of the railway, by which the British forces were certain to advance upon the city, and to the breaking down of the banks of the canals. No thought of further resistance appears to have entered into anyone's mind. The commanders at Kafr-ed-Dowar lost not a moment, when they heard of the crushing defeat, in tendering their submission to the Khedive. They gave earnest of their sincerity by spontaneously removing the dam across the Mahmoudieh canal, which cut off the water-supply from Alexandria. The garrison of Dar el Aboukir will no doubt haul down "the flag of truce" which has been flying over them for the last six weeks. On the 15th September—the very day which had been fixed for the end of the war by Sir Garnet when setting out from England—the Commander-in-Chief telegraphed from Cairo to the Government at home : "The war is over. Send no more men." Thus ends, almost as soon as it had begun, one of the most fortunate, and one of the most bloodless, campaigns ever fought.

Sir Garnet Wolseley will deserve not only the peerage which will certainly be his, but the fame and praise which will as certainly be accorded him. The change of base from Alexandria to Ismailia, the prompt and clever seizure of the Canal, the steady accumulation of the requisite force before any movement in advance was hazarded, all give evidence of a high order of military capacity. The boldness with which, when the moment came, he struck at the formidable position the enemy had been strengthening for weeks previously, and the prudence with which the assault was delivered with the bayonet at or before daybreak, when the want of light would deprive the defending force of the opportunity of availing itself of its superiority of fire, prove that Sir Garnet is not only a skilful organiser, but a capable as well as a fortunate leader in the field. It must be admitted, indeed, that his fortune had as large a share as his capacity in the result. It is not every army provided with the best modern weapons of precision, and occupying a position of great strength, defended by seventy Krupp guns, which would have allowed itself to be turned out at the point of the bayonet in twenty minutes. The fact that only sixty-three of our men were killed is in itself evidence that the Egyptians did not stay to fight. They could not have fired one complete volley before betaking themselves to flight. We are compelled to suppose that the army was surprised in its sleep by the onset of the British forces, every regiment of which "went straight for it" in the early dawn. It is the incurable vice of Oriental armies to neglect outpost duty, and there can scarcely be a doubt that either Arabi had no picquets at all in front of his line, or that if he had they were asleep at their posts when the British began their march at two in the morning from Kassassin. If Arabi had employed his irregular cavalry to keep in touch with the British force, and had the regulation picquets awake in advance of his position, it is inconceivable that the whole army could have been surprised and routed in twenty minutes. At Plevna Osman Ghazi took special precautions against a night attack by the Russians, and none was attempted. The soldiers squatting in their shallow trenches were provided with peeled rods supported on forked sticks from a foot to eighteen inches above the ground immediately in front. Under these rods, which being white could be distinguished in the darkness, they were instructed to fire as fast as they could if an attack were signalled ; to take aim either day or night, or to economise ammunition was no part of the special duty of the defending troops. For use in the daytime the slope in front of the trenches was so levelled that when the Remington rifles were laid on it the fire swept a space of some two thousand yards in front. Being loaded at the breech, it was scarcely necessary to move the rifles while the firing lasted. This method of discharging at the advancing enemy a couple of hundred rounds of ammunition with the minimum of trouble was terribly effective in its results; nothing could live in front. Obviously the Egyptian officers, though many of them must have seen service in the Bulgarian campaign, had no idea of employing the practical contrivances for equalising the conditions of a struggle against better trained forces which were tried with such effect by the Turkish general at Plevna. Had they been more intelligent, or even moderately imitative, the position of Tel-el-Kebir could not have been carried in a few minutes at the cost of sixty-three lives. Perhaps it could not have been carried by a direct attack at all, and Sir Garnet Wolseley would have been obliged to try some other means of dealing with the obstacle in his way. But it cannot diminish the credit due to his success that he achieved an instant victory by tactics admirably suited to the remissness and incapacity of his enemy. If he had Osman Pasha and Turkish troops to deal with he might not have gone to work in exactly the same way, but he would doubtless have attained his end just as effectually. He has established his claim to be considered the most fortunate of the generals of these later times ; if the opportunity presents itself he may prove himself a great captain, worthy to follow in the footsteps of Wellington.

The political consequences of the immense success so brilliantly achieved cannot fail to be proportionate. In Egypt itself universal submission has followed within twenty-four hours. The stupefaction at Constantinople must be almost as great as at Cairo. The Porte will not now venture to dispute our right to reorganise Egypt according to the necessity of our policy. The military convention has not yet been signed, and not a single Turkish soldier has yet been landed. The Sultan has literally no locus standi on Egyptian soil ; whatever rights remain to him exist only through the magnanimity of the Power which is master of Egypt. As the population in the Egyptian capital is abject in the cordiality of its welcome to Sir Garnet Wolseley, so the Porte will probably be obsequious to Lord Dufferin for some weeks to come. The European concert will of course be again heard of now that the fighting is over. But as none of the Great Powers are prepared to go to war about what has happened, or to resist what we may propose, very little real opposition is to be expected from the Conference. Even the most unfriendly of the French papers acknowledged weeks ago that if England vanquished Egypt she would be in a position to settle the affairs of that country without reverting to the old arrangements which gave France and Europe a co-equal right. The distinguished part which the Indian Contingent has borne during the decisive operations of the campaign just begun and closed will have a wholesome effect upon the military Powers which have hitherto been in the habit of counting the number of British regiments and saying, like Marshal Bugeaud, that it was a blessing there were not many of them. They will now recognise that in India England has an inexhaustible reservoir of splendid military material, and that if we should ever be forced into those big wars which make ambition virtue, we can put masses into the field equal to those of Russia or of any other of the military empires. As we do not keep on foot armies counted by the half-million, we might not be able to do this in a first campaign, but we can always wait. Our maritime supremacy secures us ample time to prepare the means of establishing a military supremacy. Now that the Liberal Ministry has itself brought Indian troops to the Mediterranean seaboard, it is not likely that we shall ever again hear such protests as those which marked the arrival of our sepoys at Malta. The gain to the military strength of the Empire from the recognition of the legitimacy of the employment of Her Majesty's Indian soldiers in the defence of its interests and honour is incalculable. At some future day the legions of the East, marshalled under the flag of England, and obedient to the voice of some great general, may decide the fate of the world.

THE announcement in our telegraphic column that Government will issue at once a new loan of 2½ crores will cause some surprise. Had this step been taken a month or two ago, it would not have come unexpectedly. Now, however, that the season is so much advanced most of those who were looking for a fresh loan this year had given up the idea. There were many reasons which made it unlikely : the treasury balances as last reported were remarkably good ; railway receipts showed about 40 lakhs over those of last year ; and the advances and appropriations made by Government for the Eastern Deccan Railway, £315,000 in 1881-82 and £370,000 in 1882-83, were recovered or recoverable from the Southern Mahratta Railway Company. Whatever lingering fear there may have been of a new loan was generally dissipated by the news of the close of the troubles in Egypt received on Saturday last. So that the intelligence could hardly come, upon, a tunate, too, that the announcement should be made at the same time with the receipt of the news of the advance of the bank rate at home to 5 per cent., as Indian rupee paper at home must be injuriously affected by that advance. It is true that money is now very cheap here ; it is indeed difficult to get 2 per cent. per annum for any large amount ; on the other hand, it is in good demand in Calcutta ; and the good crops which are now ensured all over the country, and the low freights sure to follow the discharge by Government of a large amount of tonnage, would seem to point to a return of brisk trade, which would soon create a demand for the funds at present unemployed. It is difficult, too, to understand why so large a loan as 2½ crores is to be put out, when the cost of the Egyptian expedition was placed at only £1,800,000, a sum which was considered by the authorities at home as excessive. The anticipated surplus for the year was £285,000 ; this added to the £685,000 from the Southern Mahratta Railway would appear to give Government a clear crore to meet contingencies. It would look, therefore, as if there must be something more than the war expenditure acting upon Government, to lead them to bring out so large a loan as 2½ crores, especially after the statement in the budget that "if any loan is raised it is probable that its amount will not exceed £1,500,000." It is true, we believe, that the Stock Notes have not met with much success, but Government can hardly have anticipated any large sale in so short a time. In his budget speech a month ago Lord Hartington said :—"The revenue estimates for the present year have been, as stated by Major Baring, framed with very great care and moderation." He further stated : —"The revenue for the first four months of the year was greater than was estimated, while the expenditure was somewhat less, so that even with the addition of the expense incurred by the expedition to Egypt it is not likely that the Government of India will be compelled to depart very widely from their original proposals." Further on, while repudiating all idea of pledging the Indian Government to any definite course, he said :—"I see no reason to suppose that the financial arrangements of the Indian Government will be seriously affected thereby. The actual revenue in excess of the estimated revenue may be such as to enable them without much inconvenience to meet this charge." After this, stated only four weeks ago by the Secretary of State, and with the facts stated above in our minds, it is difficult to find a reason for so large a loan ; and with the advance of the bank rate at home any excess beyond actual requirements would appear ill-advised. Government would appear to be borrowing at an unfavourable time in excess of their requirements and to meet a probable, perhaps only a possible, contingency. For a small loan to meet actual wants Government might, we think, have secured par, but for so large an amount they must submit to a discount, though the rate is not likely to go much under par ; but any loss on four per cent. paper is to be regretted.

THE colonial policy of Holland is remarkable for several peculiarities, but seldom has greater administrative confusion been exhibited than in the management of the affairs of the Dutch East Indies. General Van der Heyden some time ago occupied the position of Governor of Acheen, and in that capacity directed the military operations which eventually quelled the Acheenese rebellion. No sooner was quiet restored than Mr. Van Lansbergen, the Governor-General of the Dutch East Indies, in conjunction with, or at the instance of the Dutch Colonial Minister, resolved to restore civil government to Acheen. General Van der Heyden was consequently invited to surrender the civil functions which he held in addition to his military command. The General refused, on the ground that the colony was not yet in a fit state to be entrusted to civil authorities. The recalcitrant Governor was thereupon threatened with serious consequences, and certain cruelties practised upon prisoners were suggested as affording the means of accomplishing his ruin. As the Governor declined to be frightened, he was conveniently kicked up-stairs by being promoted to higher rank, and his recall was accompanied by an eulogistic reference to his services in Acheen. In order, apparently, to soften the obvious censure the Governor-General was recalled at the same time. But General Van der Heyden refused to be comforted. He went home, and laid his grievances before his countrymen. They sympathised with him. The King entertained him at the royal table, and everywhere the discredited Governor was covered with compliments. Meanwhile the Colonial Minister remained a member of the Government, and defended his conduct in the Legislature, who by repeated votes refused to censure either the Minister or the Governor-General. General Van der Heyden thereupon carried war into the enemy's camp. He forwarded to the Lower Chamber a statement of his case. A commission was appointed to examine it, and it has now reported that no grounds existed sufficient to justify the accusations of cruelty with which the General was menaced. As Parliament is adjourned until October, the merits of the quarrel remain undecided, and the wonderful spectacle presents itself in a constitutional country of a public officer being toasted by the King at the moment he is being publicly condemned by the King's Ministers. It is highly probable that, to some extent, both Minister and General may be in the right. General Van der Heyden may be a gallant soldier, and yet, as a Civil Governor, may not have been, as the Minister contends, "quite the right man in the right place." The dispute is not a creditable one, and with such a stock of dirty linen to wash, it is not at all surprising that the Acheen difficulty should have been so egregiously mismanaged as it undoubtedly was.

IT is to be hoped that now that the war in Egypt is over, the flooding of Lake Mareotis, which has been actually begun, will be at once discontinued. It is not easy to justify a measure of so extreme a kind, even for defensive purposes, when its necessity might be obviated by the employment of an additional regiment or two, which could be easily procured from one of our Mediterranean fortresses. But now that hostilities have ceased there is no longer any excuse for flooding this vast tract of country, and the process should be forthwith stopped, before the mischief becomes irreparable.

THE POONA RACES.

SATURDAY, the second day of these races, showed some good sport, but taken as a whole, perhaps, the racing was not quite so good as that of the second day last year. The weather was fine, the course was in capital, order and there was a large gathering of spectators. The following are the results of the races :—

1ST RACE.—Pony Race.—Rs. 400. For all ponies. Weight for inches ; Australians 13-2, to carry 10 stone ; Arabs and country-breds (13-2) 9 stone, Maidens allowed 7 lbs. Ponies who have won any race open to horses or galloways, 7 lbs. extra. Winner of the Pony Cup to carry 7 lbs. extra Distance ½ mile.

Mr. MacMillan's gr a p Akbar, 8st. 6lb., Gerard 1
Mr. Whitehead's br a p Sattara, 9st. 7lb., Bowen 2

Although there were over twenty original entries for this race, only two ponies started, namely, Sattara and Akbar. Consequently no public money was given. Both ponies started before the starter dropped his flag. Akbar was pulled up entering the straight, but Sattara ran right away round the course, and when a fresh start was made was not in good form for galloping up the hill. The result was that Bowen never attempted to win from start to finish, and was beaten very easily in the absurd time of 1 min. 3½ secs.

THE FLOODING OF LAKE MAREOTIS.

LONDON, SEPT. 14, 5-40 A.M.

Latest advices from the seat of war in Egypt state that the flooding of the dry bed of Lake Mareotis has commenced. Rumours are current that the enemy at Kafr-ed-Dowar took to flight on Wednesday afternoon.

The news of the occupation of Zagazig by the Indian Contingent (as already published by the Press Commissioner in India) has reached London.

SUBMISSION OF THE FORCES AT KAFR-ED-DOWAR.

LONDON, SEPT. 14, 10-57 A.M.

The Commander of the Egyptian forces at Kafr-ed-Dowar has written a letter to Cherif Pasha offering to surrender.

Arabi has gone to Cairo.

The British cavalry have occupied Belbeis. Sir Garnet Wolseley with a force of infantry will arrive there to-day. He then proposes to push on to Galioub, and perhaps to Cairo, with the Guards Brigade.

LONDON, SEPT. 14, 2-4 P.M.

A despatch received from Sir Evelyn Wood states that an Egyptian officer has arrived at Alexandria from Kafr-ed-Dowar bringing a letter on behalf of all the military commanders there, in which they express their wish to submit to the Khedive.

The despatch adds that the enemy has opened the dam which was thrown across the Mahmoudieh Canal, supplying Alexandria with fresh water. The enemy's force at Kafr-ed-Dowar has ceased hostilities.

LOYALTY OF THE CAIRENES.

LONDON, SEPT. 14, 6-13 P.M.

The inhabitants of Cairo have sent a delegate to the British camp expressing their loyalty to the Khedive.

The British troops at Alexandria are preparing to occupy the enemy's position at Kafr-ed-Dowar.

It is reported that Arabi Pasha has been captured at Benha.

THE OCCUPATION OF CAIRO.

LONDON, SEPT. 15, 5-30 A.M.

The British advance guard reached Cairo by rail and were cordially received by the natives, who everywhere were most abject. The rebellion is considered to be virtually terminated.

The garrison of Damietta is offering to surrender.

Upon the return of Arabi to Cairo he met with a very bad reception from the populace, who pelted him in the streets.

THE BRITISH LOSSES.

The British losses in the attack on Tel-el-Kebir were 54 men killed and 342 wounded, and 9 officers killed.

OCCUPATION OF CAIRO.

LONDON, SEPT. 15, 12-56 P.M.

A despatch from Sir Garnet Wolseley dated from Benha states that Colonel Drury Lowe, with a force of cavalry, yesterday occupied Cairo.

Arabi and Toulba Pasha surrendered unconditionally. The Egyptian troops at Cairo, numbering 10,000 men, laid down their arms.

The Prefect of Cairo, assisted by Egyptian soldiers, is now keeping order.

Sir Garnet Wolseley starts for Cairo forthwith.

THE ARREST OF ARABI.

LONDON, SEPT. 15, 11 A.M.

Arabi and Toulba Pasha have been arrested at Cairo whilst inciting the populace to acts of incendiarism and plunder. General Sir Garnet Wolseley, with the Brigade of Guards, is at Zagazig.

RECEPTION OF THE BRITISH AT CAIRO.

LONDON, SEPT. 15, 5 P.M.

A despatch from Sir Garnet Wolseley, dated from Cairo, says:—"We have been received with open arms by all classes. The Egyptian troops will gladly return to their homes." The despatch adds:—"The war is over. Send no more men. Our base will now be changed from Ismailia to Alexandria. The spirits and health of the troops are excellent. All have done their duty well."

RUMOURED RETURN OF THE BRITISH TROOPS.

LONDON, SEPT. 16, MORNING.

It is believed that arrangements are being made for the return home of the bulk of the British forces in Egypt.

BRITISH OPINION OF THE INDIAN TROOPS.

RECOVERY OF MIDSHIPMAN DE CHAIR.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, SEPT. 17.

A special telegram to the Pioneer says:—

Two thousand prisoners were interned at Ismailia.

The Egyptian troops are now rendering assistance in repairing the railway and telegraph lines.

Arabi was captured by the Bengal Cavalry. They surrounded the house in which he had taken refuge. Before yielding, Arabi had written a letter to the Khedive imploring his pardon.

Midshipman De Chair was found in Cairo, alive and well.

The Khedive will now proceed to Cairo to constitute a Commission to try the rebels.

It is believed the losses in the Indian division were overstated. General Macpherson's report is anxiously awaited.

The British troops from Ramleh have taken possession of Kafr-ed-Dowar.

The Times says it is pleasant to acknowledge the behaviour of the Indian troops, who displayed qualities fitting them to take an honoured place in any army the Empire may turn out. It is impossible to exaggerate the effect of their comradeship in danger.

THE INDIAN WAR EXPENDITURE.

(FROM THE PRESS COMMISSIONER.)

SIMLA, SEPT. 16.

The extent to which the cost of the Egyptian Expedition will ultimately fall on the revenues of India is as yet uncertain; but as heavy disbursements will in any case have to be made by the Indian Treasury in the first instance, the Government of India in the Financial Department considers it desirable to strengthen the cash balances by borrowing 2½ crores of rupees. The loan will bear interest at 4 per cent. per annum. Tenders will be received up to noon on October 13. Instalments will be payable as follows:—One-third on or before November 13; one-third on or before December 11; one-third on or before December 28.

A Notification giving full details will be published simultaneously at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Simla, on September 26.

INDIAN ART-WARE AND INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITIONS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, JULY 17.

It is officially announced that restrictions on raw products and manufactures intimately connected therewith for the forthcoming Amsterdam Exhibition are not prompted by the results of the reception of Indian art-ware at the Melbourne Exhibition, as suggested by some newspapers, but by unwillingness on the part of Government to add to the numerous requisitions which have been made during the past year or two on district officers by manufacturers and others for a supply of exhibits. Government is contemplating arrangements for making a permanent loan of a collection of articles of art-ware which may serve for all future occasions.

VISITORS AT SIMLA.

Sir Alfred Lyall left yesterday, and the Maharajah of Jeypore arrived.

STOCK NOTES.

A Resolution prescribing the rules, under certain restrictions, relating to the payment of stock notes alleged to have been lost or destroyed are published in the Gazette of India,

THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

At the next meeting of the Legislative Council the Hon'ble Mr. Gibbs will move for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the granting of honorary degrees by certain Universities, and will also present the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to establish and incorporate the Punjab University.

The Hon'ble Mr. Hope will move that the Deccan Agriculturists Act Amendment Bill be referred to a Select Committee.

THE hired transports which conveyed the Indian troops to Egypt, now returning to Bombay, are, we believe, as they arrive being handed over to their agents and stripped of the special fittings for the convenience of the troops, horses, mules, &c. This does not look as if it were expected that the Indian Contingent would return to India at present.

MAJOR R. WACE, R. A., of No. 2 Bombay Mountain Battery, succeeds Colonel T. Nicholl, R. A., in charge of the Foundry and Shell Factory at Cossipore.

THERE was a decrease in the receipts from the salt duties of Rs. 8,54,000 for the five months ending the 31st of August, as compared with the similar period of last year.

A CALCUTTA paper learns that some three or four candidates have already appeared in the field for the agricultural scholarship for the ensuing year, of whom two or three are graduates of the Calcutta University, and one, an undergraduate of the Bombay University, is a Eurasian.

THE British ship Falls of Afton, which was abandoned by her late captain and crew on her outward passage, but subsequently towed to Madeira and repaired, has arrived safely at Saugor, 100 days out from Madeira.

WE regret to see from the Calcutta papers that Mr. Justice Norris was indisposed, and had not been able to take his seat on the bench for three days.

WE have heard a good deal lately about the presence of Italians in Upper Burmah. A Rangoon correspondent telegraphs to the Indian Daily News that an Italian gentleman has been deputed by the Exploration Society of Milan to travel to Saigon viâ Mandalay, to obtain information about the fauna, flora, and minerals of the country. He will probably visit Thibet also.

A RANGOON correspondent telegraphs:—"Dacoity is alarmingly prevalent throughout the district. The Government propose putting the dacoity law in force, and employing a special staff."

THE Pioneer's special correspondent in Egypt, writing from Ismailia on August 30, says:—"The heat is great, provisions none too plentiful, and water of bad quality. The men bear up wonderfully, and only require a sight of the enemy to make them forget all their ills."

"CAPTAIN" TUCKER and the other members of the Indian Expedition of the Salvation Army are passengers in the mail-steamer Ancona, to arrive this week. The Ancona left Aden on Thursday last at 2 a.m., and will probably arrive to-morrow (Tuesday) evening. The Bombay Guardian gives the following programme of the "first march" of the Army in Bombay:—

The opening march is to take place on Wednesday, 20th inst., commencing at 4 p. m. Up Duncan Road to Grant Road, down Parel Road and Kalbadevie to Money School. Up Girgaum tram line through Agiary Road and Musjid Bunder Road, and to Crawford Market. Special addresses, with singing and band music near Money School at 5 o'clock and near Crawford Market at 6-30. A few seats in the War Chariots are reserved for friends. Apply by letter to The Agent, War Cry, Bombay.

Apropos of the recent floods and the interruption of railway communications, the Bombay Guardian expresses the opinion that "the only way to make the Indian railways proof against the assaults of rivers is by evading the conflict; in other words the line should be taken under the beds of the rivers instead of over them. In an age when men are proposing to make a submarine tunnel between England and France, the difficulty of tunneling below the beds of Indian rivers would be trifling indeed."

THE following is the official summary of the North-West Provinces crop and weather report for the week ended on the 13th September:—There has been stormy weather with light rain during the week. Prospects are everywhere favourable, though more rain would still be beneficial in parts of Partabgarh and Meerut. Prices are stationary. Cholera is decreasing on the whole, but there is the usual autumnal fever in the Rohilkund, Agra, and Meerut Divisions. Slight cattle disease continues in Oudh, Gorakhpur, and Kumaun.

THE following is the official summary of the reports on the weather and crops in Assam for the week ended the 31st of August.—"In the Surma Valley copious rain has fallen; the Aus crop is being reaped; transplantation of Sali paddy continues in Cachar, but is completed in Sylhet: prospects and outturn of tea good. In the hill districts heavy rain has fallen; prospects generally continue excellent. In the Brahmaputra Valley, sufficient rain has fallen in all districts, and cultivation of Sali paddy progresses satisfactorily; public health generally good; cattle-disease reported from Darrang and Lakhimpur only."

THE Hon'ble Miss Emma Sugden, a daughter of Lord St. Leonards, who is actively employed in mission work in Calcutta and its neighbourhood, was to preach to a congregation of seamen at the Seamen's Coffee House, Lall Bazaar, Calcutta, last evening. A sister of Miss Sugden's is coming out to India at the commencement of the coming cold weather to follow her example, and to take part in Zenana Mission labours. Miss Sugden has addressed several meetings of sailors on previous occasions with success, the men listening to her with great attention, more so perhaps than were they listening to a missionary of the other sex, and the lady is an impressive preacher.

THE Bombay Guardian:—Is leprosy infectious? is a question that was put to Dr. Blanc the other day by Justice Bayley, as he was expecting to have to try some lepers in a day or two. The answer was, "Not necessarily, but don't come too close." We have known many persons thus afflicted, and known those who were in intimate contact with them, but never knew of any body's getting it in this way. We have known of a wife that continued to live with her husband after he had become a leper and bore him children, but she never was affected by it. We have known of a leper in an establishment where others were working beside him for years, without any of them being infected with the disease.

ON the subject of the complaints as to the tardiness of promotion amongst subalterns of the Staff Corps, "Hindoo" writes to the Allahabad paper:—"Although we cannot plead ignorance on entering the Staff Corps with regard to the periods of promotion, yet we should not, I think, altogether abandon the claim to promotion on a par with our brethren of the Line. I think I am right in stating that the twelve years' period qualifying for promotion to Captain was fixed for the Staff Corps, because at the time that was the average run in not so much the Cavalry and Infantry of the Line as in the Royal Artillery, a non-purchase corps—which for the latter reason was taken, I believe, as the standard. Now, the last two Subalterns who obtained their promotion to Captain in the Royal Artillery had very little over nine years' service; and this run has been going on steadily for some time in the Royal Artillery; and in view of this we, the subalterns of the Staff Corps, have some ground for a claim to alteration of the periods qualifying for promotion. Failing this alteration, the bestowal of brevet or local rank, as similarly granted to officers of the old Bengal Cavalry and Infantry Cadres would, I think, meet the difficulty. As regards the other point—of pay—I don't think subalterns can say, as a rule, that they are badly paid in the Staff Corps, the only appointment in a regiment held permanently by a subaltern which is really underpaid is the Quartermastership. The Quartermaster should certainly not receive less than Rs. 200 staff pay. As regards the Adjutant, it is high time he was relieved of the duties of Paymaster, which should be made over to the Second-in-Command, who gets Rs. 40 a month for doing actually nothing.

THE Progress and Administration Report of the State Railways in Bengal shows the great advance which is being made in covering Bengal with a network of railways. Eight years ago there were, excluding the guaranteed lines, only 55 miles of provincial railways open for traffic, with a capital outlay of some Rs. 76,90,000. As the present year opened, there were no less than 525 miles of railway, completed at a cost outlay of Rs. 4,05,00,000, 309 miles were in course of construction, 780 miles surveyed, and 800 miles projected; making a total in eight years of something like 2,364 miles of railway projected, surveyed, and working, or deducting the 800 miles of projected railway, there are in Bengal in round numbers 1,500 miles of railway either completed, or on which operations will shortly be commenced.

THE hitherto literally benighted city of Madras, in the respect that it is only lighted by oil lamps, is considering how it can best improve its system of lighting. The local Mail says:—It is believed in official quarters that Madras cannot be lighted economically with gas, and should improvement be decided upon, it is more than probable that it would be lighted by electricity in preference to any other mode. . . . Now is the time for the Electric Light Companies to show their enterprise by stating what they can light the city for. It is rather curious that one company should have selected Bombay as its head-quarters, seeing that Bombay is lighted—at least partially—by gas, while there was a city where the competition of gas was not to be met with." Yes, but Bombay is Bombay.

WE noticed recently the appearance in the Gazette of India of a long list of tenders for railway stores accepted in this country by the Public Works Department for the use of the State railways for the current financial year. The credit for suggesting the plan of advertising for the supply of stores in India is, the Englishman believes, chiefly due to Mr. Wood, the Port Storekeeper of the State Railway Department in Calcutta. A comparison of the prices given in the published list between those charged through the India Office in England and those charged by local firms shows what a large saving would be annually effected if this local purchasing was adopted by all the railways throughout India, and other Government departments. Such a course must meet with the approval of a Government anxious to encourage local industries.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing to a contemporary upon the subject of native officers, says:—"Of course cutting down the European officers in a regiment throws more responsibility on the native officers, and puts more power in their hands. Possibly this makes them better, as alleged. But is this what you want? You put down the Pandies in 1857 just because they had bad officers, and it would make a great difference if they had good officers in any future row. This was urged at the outset as an argument against the irregular system. What you really want is to have a native army which is as good as possible when fighting for you, and as bad as possible when it turns against you. Ergo have lots of European officers, and don't train natives to take their place. Our present system does not afford an outlet for the soldierly ambition of natives. You can only do that by having separate corps entirely officered by natives—a plan for which there is much to be said. At the same time it does teach natives to do work, and puts dangerous knowledge and power into the hands of men who have little to hope for. Therefore it is a bad and dangerous system. Given 20 British officers to our native regiments, and we will fight the world."

A LISBON telegram announces "that in the expectation of important events soon occurring in Morocco, Portugal will henceforth be represented there, not by a Consul, but by a Minister Plenipotentiary. The corvette Bartholomew Dias sailed on Aug. 23 for Tangiers with Senhor Collaco, who has been appointed Minister to Morocco."

SOME speculations were being indulged in when the mail left on the subject of the Czar's Coronation. The Vienna correspondent of the Standard telegraphed on Aug. 23:—"I hear from a trustworthy source that the Czar's Coronation was fixed for August 26, Old Style; but the order was countermanded six days ago. This, however, does not exclude the possibility of a quiet and sudden performance of the ceremony." The Berlin correspondent of the same paper telegraphed on Aug. 21:—One Prussian Prince at least, probably the Crown Prince, will attend the Coronation of the Czar. All the arrangements for the participation of the German Court are already so far advanced that only the notice of the actual date of the Coronation is necessary for their completion.

THE Italians continue to build big war ships. The keel of a new firstrate ironclad, to be called the Ruggero Loria, has been laid down at Castellamare. Her length is to be 100 metres, immersion seven and three-quarter metres, and displacement 10,000 tons. She is to be armed with four 100-ton Armstrong guns, and to have engines of 10,000 horse-power, calculated to give a speed of 16 knots an hour.

THE Catholic journals at Rome on August 19 published a letter addressed by the Pope to the Irish Bishops. In this communication his Holiness expresses his profound regret that tranquillity has not been restored in Ireland, and that murders continue to be committed. A just cause, his Holiness says, must be upheld by just means. Secret Societies must be shunned. In the words of St. Augustine, the first characteristic trait of liberty is the non-commission of crimes. The Pope next commends the measures taken by the Bishops for the formation of an efficient body of clergy, and adds that the priests ought, in the present troubles, to be the active supporters of public order. The letter concludes by expressing a hope that the English Government will do justice to the equitable claims of the Irish people, remembering that the pacification of Ireland constitutes an element of tranquillity for the whole Empire.

A SIGNOR GENNARELLI has applied to the Italian Minister of Public Instruction for permission to excavate around the base of Trajan's column, where he expects to find nothing less than a sepulchral chamber containing that Emperor's ashes preserved in an urn of gold, and in a letter addressed to the papers he sets forth the grounds on which he confidently bases his expectations. He quotes how Dion Cassius, Entropius, Cassiodorus, Lampidrius, and others narrate that Trajan's ashes were brought to Rome and deposited in a costly urn of gold beneath the column still standing untouched in its place. But, he adds, the column was erected some years previously, and, therefore, the urn could not have been buried beneath its pedestal. The chamber in which it was placed must have been situated immediately below the level, on the one side or the other; and that the chamber so situated has never been violated in the course of the centuries that have elapsed, and that the golden urn is safe within it, Signor Gennarelli undertakes to prove. Signor Gennarelli is not the only person, the Times correspondent at Rome remarks, whom the recent impetus given to works of excavation has struck with the craze—a very old one in Rome—for seeking for hidden treasure. A Signor Maes believes that he has discovered that a splendid obelisk lies buried beneath the Giustiniani Palace. For some months he has been writing to the papers on the subject and petitioning the Municipality for permission to open up the street alongside the Palace, but competent archæologists are not disposed to consider his conjectures well founded.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

PRINCE'S DOCK.—The s. s. Chilka, Gwalior, and Tuscany entered, and the Adirondack left, the dock on Saturday.

THE UNIVERSITY SENATE.—We are requested to remind fellows of the University that a meeting of the Senate will be held in the Sir Cowasjee Jehangher Hall of the University to-day, at 5-15 p.m.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A coroner's inquest was held on Saturday last at Hoozria-street, on the body of Limedithan Hussonichan, aged one year. Deceased died from the effects of injuries sustained by an accidental fall out of a window on the second storey of a house in that locality, on the 13th instant. A verdict of accidental death was recorded.

FIRE AT COLABA.—A fire broke out in a jowlee hut situated on the Jamestjee-bunder, Colaba, occupied by some fishermen, about noon on Saturday last. The hut was burnt down to the ground in a very short time. The fire is said to have originated from careless biddee-smoking. A number of fishermen's nets were destroyed by the flames. The damage is roughly estimated at Rs. 200.

ALLEGED THEFT AT NAGDAVEY.—Ebrahimjee Adamjee, living at Nagdavey, reported to the police on Friday last that on his return from Indore he missed from his premises eighteen large copper and brass vessels, and a number of small tin boxes containing cochineal, of the collective value of Rs. 290. The keys of the complainant's premises were entrusted to a respectable Borah merchant, who has left for his native country.

MISSING CHILDREN.—Dhondoo Mahadoo, residing at Moody Bay, reported to the police on Friday last that his son, Marotee, aged fourteen years, has been missing since 9 p.m. on that day. The boy had on his person, when last seen, silver ornaments to the value of Rs. 75.—Chew, woman, residing at Naigaum, also reported to the police on the same day that her son, Seva Babajee, aged twelve years, has been missing since that morning. He had on his person gold and silver ornaments worth Rs. 15.

SUICIDE.—A coroner's inquest was held on Saturday last, at the J. J. Hospital, on the body of Bapoosab Alisab, aged fifty-six years. Deceased was a butler in the service of Mrs. Craigie, Byculla, and Owen, on account of a family dispute, committed suicide by voluntarily taking a quantity of white arsenic mixed up with some sweetmeat. He died about twelve hours after admission into the hospital. The verdict was:—"That the death of the deceased was caused by arsenic which he voluntarily administered to himself."

CHARITY.—A sum of Rs. 100 was forwarded on Saturday last to the Commissioner of Police, with a request that the money may be handed over to the widow of the deceased Bhugwansing Russoolsing, who came by his death accidentally, in the execution of his duty as a servant of the Bombay Telephone Company. Rs. 50 of the amount was forwarded by Messrs. Benn, Ashley and Company, the agents of the Bombay Telephone Company, and Rs. 50 by Mr. Ferris, the proprietor of the Carnac-bunder Iron Works, and contractor to the Bombay Telephone Company.

DEATH OF MR. CASSUMBHOY DHURUMSEY.—Mr. Cassumbhoy Dhurumsey, a well-known Khojah merchant, died at his residence in Khojah Mohla about midday on Saturday last. In early life he travelled to China, where he traded for some time and gained a fortune. He travelled over Europe before returning to Bombay. Here, with his father, Mr. Dhurumsey Nonjibhoy, he purchased the mill at the Byculla known as the New Dhurumsey Spinning and Weaving Mills, and extended it so far as to make it one of the largest mills in India. During the share mania times he speculated on an extensive scale, and his name was connected with many of the bubble companies, either as a director or as a promoter. He once generously gave up about one-half of his fortune to assist his father, who had incurred liabilities of several lakhs of rupees. Having sustained reverses, he sold his commission as agent of the New Dhurrumsey Mills to Messrs. Merwanjee Framjee Panday and Co. He was a director of the Eastern Financial Association, in connection with which he was involved with Mr. Kessowjee Naik and other directors in costly litigation; and he had to pay a lakh of rupees by order of Sir Charles Sargent to the official liquidator to reimburse the losses occasioned to the shareholders. In private life Mr. Cassumbhoy was esteemed as a gentleman of an unassuming and amiable nature and a charitable disposition. He was for some time the Bombay agent to His Highness the Jam of Nowanuggur, and was well known throughout Kathiawar.

DEPARTURE OF DR. HUNTER FROM POONA.—Dr. Hunter, the President of the Education Commission, left for Madras by the mail-train last (Friday) night. There were a number of native gentlemen present at the station to wish him good-bye.—Poona Observer.

SIND VOLUNTEER BALL.—The annual ball of the Sind Volunteer Rifle Corps, which came off last night (September 13), was a complete success. The electric light was used, and burnt steadily and exceedingly well throughout the night. All the arrangements in connection with the ball were simply perfect, and the committee, whose hands the management was placed are to be congratulated on the success they achieved. Among the guests present were Mr. H. N. R. Erskine, Commissioner in Sind and Honorary Colonel of the Corps, and Brigadier-General Oldershaw.—Beacon.

HEAVY RAIN IN SIND.—We hear that the recent rains have damaged considerably a large culvert or water-way which connects the water-works at the Mulleer with the reservoir here. It is said that the cause of the damage is the falling down of large pieces of rock which were loosened by the heavy spates during the rains. The contractors have deputed an engineer to repair the damage as done as speedily as possible. It is anticipated that these accidents may delay the completion of the works, but we put full faith in the assiduity of the energetic Engineer and Secretary to the Municipality in seeing that no such delay may take place without very grave reasons.—Sind Civil and Military Gazette.

SUPPOSED DEATH OF A SHIP CAPTAIN.—We regret to understand that what will most likely prove to be a fatal accident happened at Koamari on Sunday night last. Captain R. Stanhouse, of the s. s. Gladiolus, at present in harbour here (Kurrachee), has been missing since 12-15 o'clock on that night. He was last seen on deck at that hour by the watchman. It is conjectured that he fell overboard in some unaccountable way, and, as there would be a strong current running seaward at the time, his body has been most probably carried away to sea. Should such be the case, it may be found washed up on the beach at or about the Clifton foreshore in a day or two. The steward of the ship states that he went into the Captain's room at 8-30 a. m., as usual, but found that the Captain was missing. It was evident that he had not been in bed, as it was not disturbed in any way. There is no suspicion of any foul play; on the contrary, it is considered that the ship's rail being low, the Commander may have stumbled over it and fall eninto the water.—Id.

THE PREVENTIVE SERVICE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

SIR,—Whoever is responsible for the delay in the disposal of the claims of the poor suffering fellows thrown out of the above service last April richly deserves the cry of "shame upon you!" It is a shame that these men should be kept waiting months for a settlement which—as a special case—could have been arranged for disposal in a rapid manner. The "powers that be" have settled a few cases, and are now apparently lying on their oars, overwhelmed with the strain; while those of the victims who have not succeeded in obtaining work are sinking into debt and misery, the latter affecting their wives and children keenly.

Sturrock, Esq., M.C.S., Collector and Magistrate, Mulabar; Mahomed Razza Khan, of the Berar Commission has already been examined by the Education Commission sitting at Pachmari, Central Provinces.

THE SHRAWAN MONTH.

THE month of Shrawan, the holiest month of the twelve in the year, according to Hindoo belief, is just over. It is interesting to know what the Hindoos are supposed to do during this month. On Saturdays and Mondays they fast the whole day, taking one simple meal in the evening. On Agiaras, Gokul Ashtmi, Nagpacham, and other holidays, which fall in the month they fast altogether. On the Nagpacham day the Gujarati Hindoos proceed to Naspada and propitiate the Nag serpent by feeding it with milk. They believe that the earth rests on the serpent. That god must therefore be kept quiet by these offerings. After Nagpacham comes the Gokul Ashtmi day. On this day the god Khrishna was supposed to have been born. The Hindoos consider it a day of rejoicing, yet they observe a rigid fast. They make up for this by unlimited gambling. Gambling shops are opened a fortnight previously, and on the occasion of visiting the Walkeshwar temple Hindoos flock there and make that end of Malabar Hill an extensive gambling shop. The women and even children, under the auspices of the head of the family, join in this dangerous pastime.

BOMBAY PORT TRUST.

EXCERPTS from the proceedings of a meeting of the Trustees of the Port of Bombay held on the 14th instant.

REMOVAL OF FISHING STAKES FROM THE HARBOUR.

Read Government Resolution No. 421, dated 5th September, accepting the Trustees' contribution of Rs. 17,000 towards the settlement of the claims of fishermen for stakes removed from off the approaches to the harbour, and intimating that the remaining half of the claims will be borne by Government. The Commissioner of Customs, the Director of Indian Marine, and the Collector of Salt Revenue are enjoined to keep a very strict watch that no encroachment of fishing stakes within the limits assigned be allowed to take place in future, and it is further intimated that immediate action should follow any such encroachments. Resolution.—It should be pointed out to Government that the Trustees intended to pay Rs. 17,000 as in full of all claims that might be made against them in respect to fishermen's claims, if Government are prepared to accept the money on that condition it should at once be paid. But if, in the event of further claims being put forward, Government propose to ask the Trustees to share in a settlement of them, then, without at present admitting such claims, the Trustees will postpone making any payment until the fishermen have been settled with, and an account rendered of payments actually made.

THE COAL BUNDERS.

Submitted correspondence and minutes of Trustees on the subject of the Trustees undertaking the custody and delivery of coal stored on the bunders. Resolution.—Consideration postponed until the further papers which have been written have been circulated to all the Trustees.

FOUNTAINS FOR THE PRINCE'S DOCK.

Read letters from the Resident Engineer, dated 5th and 8th September, stating, in reply to an inquiry made, that the piping and underground work in conn rary. The Architectural Engineer to Government names Rs. 12,000 as the smallest sum for which the Church can be built to hold two hundred.

The sums subscribed up to the 16th instant amounted to Rs. 4,340, including Rs. 824 raised in a few weeks from mariners in the port of Bombay.

Subscriptions and donations may be sent direct to the Secretary and Treasurer, Bank of Bombay.

BENGAL.

HYDROPHOBIA.—At native, twenty years of age, who had been bitten by a dog about twenty days ago, was admitted into the Campbell Hospital suffering from incipient symptoms of hydrophobia. He was treated, but the symptoms becoming aggravated he succumbed after a short time.—Englishman.

HAPHAZARD POSTAL SERVICE.—Postal arrangements are not yet quite perfect in Assam, and it would appear that the mail arrivals cannot always be predicted as accurately as at Allahabad. A gentleman the other day, who wrote to the native postmaster of Dibrugarh to ask when the English mail would be in, received the answer "God knows, Sir." The words are so suggestive that one regrets to learn that the unfortunate sender was reported for impertinence.—Pioneer.

THE CONDEMNED KEROSINE-OIL.—On Tuesday morning Professor Redwood, Dr. Warden and Mr. Pedlar, three analytical experts, paid a visit to the kerosine-oil stacked at Garden Reach. The cargo landed from the Viscount, a large part of which has been passed, was divided into seven sections; that remaining from the Ross Dhu into six sections; the cargo from the Tintern Abbey into ten sections; and that from the Celtic Monarch, which is still intact, into ten sections. The three chemists then drew samples from each section, and are now sitting in solemn conclave over them.—Englishman, September 14.

A SNAKE-CHARMER KILLED BY A COBRA.—At about 7·30 p. m. on Monday last, some natives, resident in Puddoopookur, Entally, caught a cobra in a mudi's shop, and were on the point of killing it when another named Ramachunder Ghose, a snake-charmer by profession, asked them not to do so, and volunteered to secure and tame the reptile. He managed to seize its head with one hand and its tail with the other, and after doing so, was putting it into an earthen chatty when the snake turned and bit him on the left thumb. He refused to be either taken to hospital or be treated, and said that he would cure himself by some mantras. These he kept on repeating, but was a dead man before 9 p.m.—Englishman.

EXTENSIVE POSTAL ROBBERY.—The police are engaged in tracking a peon of the postal department, named Sewchurn, who has absconded with notes to the amount of Rs. 12,000 under the following circumstances: On the 7th instant the member of a native firm at Bhauguipur, named Kalaram Mekraj Booder Mull, forwarded to another firm in Calcutta, named Fernand Ram Persad, two registered covers, each containing the halves of two currency notes for Rs. 1,000 each, and the halves of twenty notes for Rs. 500 each, in all Rs. 12,000. The covers were duly made over to the delivery peon, who took them and returned a forged receipt for the covers. On Saturday last the addressee, who had been advised of the despatch of the money, sent in a petition to the Postal authorities inquiring whether the registered cover had arrived. Apparently no notice was taken of this petition, and on the Monday following they sent in a second petition to the same effect. Inquiries were then made, and it was found that the peon, who had been entrusted with these two registered covers, had given in the forged receipt on Saturday and had not been seen since. On the 11th the matter was placed in the hands of the police, who were informed that the notes had not been encashed. The defaulting peon has had a clear start of four days, and it is almost hopeless to expect that he will be arrested.—Englishman.

MADRAS.

AN UNNATURAL MOTHER.—A tigress at the People's Park gave birth to three cubs on Tuesday last, one of them being still-born, one of them died in the course of yesterday, and the mother devoured the third last night.—Madras Mail, Sept. 14.

MAJOR GENERAL KEMPSTER.—Major General Francis Greethan Kempster, Commanding the British Burmah Division, who proceeded to Europe on six months' leave, in March last, has returned to the Presidency, and proceeded per B. I. S. N. Co.'s steamer Satara for Rangoon to take over duties from Major General Edmond Francis Burton.—Madras Mail.

LEPROSY.—It would be advisable that people suffering from this disease should be prohibited from selling eatables of any description to the public. In Shoolay there are two women with petty bazaars selling fruit and boiled patatoes, which are largely purchased by children. Another leper sits and begs on the side of Brigade-road, is and quite a nuisance to the public. There is, we believe, hospital accommodation provided for these people—Banga-

An advertisement in for the above to all for states [illegible] Courtallum at [illegible] o'clock. His Excellency [illegible] erected near the Lalla Chattram, [illegible] hana, the Municipal Commissioners, the District Collector, the Tahsildar, and other leading natives. The Ootamalie zemindar presented garlands. An address was read by the Master of the Palamcottah School. In the evening there was an official dinner at the Collector's. The Governor is the Collector's guest. On Thursday there was a reception by the Governor and Mrs. Grant Duff, of European and the chief natives.

KALAHUNDI.—We fear that the Kalahundi disturbances, although suppressed for the time will recur if some steps are not taken to establish a strong police force throughout the country. The Konds will never forgive the Cultas, and, as they themselves say, can an ox work at the same plough with a horse? What we consider ought to be done is to increase the police force to three hundred and fifty men, and have 100 men under a European inspector at Bowanipatna armed with breech-loaders similar to the Balguda Police; while the remaining two hundred and fifty should be distributed in parties of fifty, at five different towns, viz., Mohongiri, Rampore, Herla, and two others. This force, if properly equipped and armed, would be quite sufficient to maintain order in the country and inspire the Cultas with confidence sufficient to cultivate the large tracts of rich, though uncultivated, lands, which exist in Kalahundi. If favourable terms were offered to settlers, numbers of Ooryas from the Khonds would crowd into Kalahundi and clear the jungles and cultivate the land. The revenue might easily be quadrupled in fourteen years, and the whole country opened out.—Madras Times.

UNIFORM OF THE MADRAS ARMY.—The new uniform which has been selected by Sir Frederick Roberts for the use of the Madras troops is decidedly serviceable and neat. It will be a relief to both sepoys and those who see them when the present hideous and uncomfortable head-dress is discarded. There is one point, however, which, we are sorry to see, has been omitted, and that is, what boots are sepoys to wear? At present they wear boots made by native chucklers, and the consequence is that in every regiment there are always several men to be seen on parade with no boots on. When you enquire into the reason of this you are informed that the doctor has excused these men from wearing boots owing to their feet having been chafed by their ill-made boots. What the Madras sepoy would really like—and we have taken the trouble to consult a good many on this subject—is to have either a good Europe-made boot given them by Government, or untanned shoes similar to those called Oxford shoes. We most earnestly desire to call the attention of the authorities to the question of the shoeing of the Madras sepoy, who can march as well as any man if properly shod. We think the untanned shoe would be the most serviceable and at the same time comfortable shoe that could be provided.—Madras Times.

THE BELLARY DACOITY.—"Safety" sends us further particulars of the dacoity mentioned in our issue of yesterday's date. He says:—"Your readers will not believe me when I say that a dacoity has been committed in the Pettah, Bellary Town, at a distance of about 200 yards only from the Central Police Station. Yet it is so. On the night of the 11th instant, Monday, at about 12 o'clock, about thirty people armed with sticks and stones, entered a Brahmin's house, severely wounded two inmates of the house, carried away gold and silver jewels, and other property, valued at over Rs. 1,000. The affair lasted for about three-quarters of an hour, torches being lighted up, and stones being pelted over the surrounding houses, and no one, including the police, came to the sufferer's rescue, till all the robbers had run away, in spite of the hue and cry of all the inmates of the house. What is to become of Bellary after this? This, be it remembered, is a military station, with a strong police force, and the residence of several magistrates. All the townsmen of Bellary are filled with consternation, fearing subsequent visits by this gang of dacoits. What the Inspector-General of Police and the other authorities are going to do, to detect the real offenders, and prevent repetitions are things which remain to be seen.—Madras Mail.

THE SALEM RIOTS.

THE CASE OF THE ALLEGED RINGLEADERS.

SALEM, Sept. 13.

THE following prisoners were this morning placed before the District Magistrate, at the residence of the Collector, viz:—Kyloss Gowndon, Mittadar of Pokumpallium (3rd accused in Calendar case No. 3) and also (1) Abgopuram Gundappa Moodelly, a landowner and village Munsiff, (2) Soobroy Moodelly, Vakil of the Munsiff's Court, (3) Vencatachella Moodelly, Local Fund Board overseer, (4) Manikum Moodelly, late native Surgeon, Salem, (5) Rungasawmy Chetty, Salem Village Magistrate, (6) Gopalsawmy Moodelly, Shivapoli Village Magistrate, (7) Venkatrama Chetty, merchant and silk weaver, (8) Comarasawmy Iyer, clerk, Salem Collector's office; (9) Morare Vardia Chetty, merchant and silk weaver, (10) Condiah Chetty, silk merchant, and (11) Condiah Gownden.

Mr. Shephard appeared on behalf of Government: Mr. Pritchard and Mr. Willie Grant, barristers-at-law, for the accused.

Mr. Shephard observed that, with reference to the Mittadar of Pokumpollium, Kyloss Gownden, he understood that the evidence was not very satisfactory, and, therefore, if an application was made for bail, he would offer no objection.

Mr. Pritchard, handing in a document, said it was an application for bail on behalf of this accused.

The District Magistrate replied that he should require heavy bail. For accused's own bail he would take the property they had got, but one surety must be given for Rs. 10,000.

Mr. Pritchard said accused had named a surety, one Ramiah.

Ramiah was accordingly called into Court, and admitted being the gumastah of the Mittadar, the prisoner.

Mr. Shephard urged that accused must be made to understand that the money in deposit was given as security.

The District Magistrate observed that he had cash to the extent of about Rs. 4,000. (This money was found in a box in possession of accused at the time of his arrest by Inspector Hartnett.)

Mr. Pritchard suggested that accused should be allowed to sign a document for Rs. 20,000, which he thought would be a sufficient security.

Mr. Shephard said he would raise no objection to that, and added that nothing need, therefore, be said about the money in deposit.

The District Magistrate consented to the course proposed.

The Mittadar, having subsequently signed the required bond, was released on bail, pending the adjourned hearing.

Mr. Shephard.—With regard to the other prisoners, we are in this position, that Soondram Chetty, who is one of the principal accused, is still at large, though it was expected he would have been arrested within a very short time. Under these circumstances, I think it better that the examination of the witnesses, who are witnesses against Soondram as well as these accused, should be postponed, in order that it may not be necessary to examine some of the witnesses again. I, therefore, ask that the case against these others be adjourned to this day week, adding, at the same time, that if Soondram be not arrested by that date we will go on without him, and also that supposing Soondram be arrested before then, this case shall be proceeded with, whenever found convenient. No further delay will be asked for on any other ground than this. It is obvious, for the convenience of both parties, that the several witnesses should be examined once for all.

The case against Condiah Chetty (No. 10) was then remanded to 21st instant.

Mr. Grant applied for bail. He was, he said, prepared to furnish sufficient security for any of the accused.

The District Magistrate observed that, if there was reasonable ground for believing that the accused were guilty of the offence, the Court was justified in refusing bail. He thought there were reasonable, and very reasonable grounds, for such belief in those cases.

Mr. Grant inquired if the Court thought that all the accused were guilty of non-bailable offences.

The District Magistrate replied that he had thought so from the beginning. He knew all about the affair, and the secrets connected with it, and there were just grounds for the incarceration of the accused.

Bail was therefore refused.

The remainder of the accused were then called up and formally remanded, bail being refused.—Madras Times.

A LIBERAL LANDLORD.—The Rajah of Mahmudabad, in the Sitapore District, Oudh, has liberally remitted a sum of one lakh of rupees to his tenants out of the balance of rent standing against them.—Pioneer.

A PANTHER STORY.—Here is the latest panther story:—A planter, living up the Kulu valley, was sitting in the verandah, after dinner with his dog lying under his chair. Happening to rise from his chair for a moment, a panther sprang into the verandah and seized the dog. Luckily, there was a very big stick close at hand, which the planter applied with such exceeding good will to the panther's hide, that the brute, seemingly completely cowed by the sudden attack, dropped the dog, turned, and bolted! It was a plucky thing to do, as the panther was very likely indeed to have turned upon its assailant and seriously mauled him.—Delhi Gazette, September 11.

MARRIAGE AT SIMLA.—A very gay gathering was seen on Saturday last at Christ Church, on the occasion of the marriage of Colonel Bamfield's daughter to Lieut. Sherston. The interior of the Church had a very pretty appearance; the varied uniforms of the officers, the splendid dresses of the ladies, of whom there was a great number, and the happy faces of the young expectant belles of Simla, all helped to make the scene attractive. The party proceeded from the Church to the bride's father's house. In the evening it had been intended to have a dance on the sward. Two shameianas and a large tent had been erected in the compound for the accommodation of the party. But the rain prevented this part of the programme being carried out. Dancing, however, was kept up in the house. The Governor-General's band was in attendance.—Simla Argus.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—See article in the Civil Service Gazette.
